Women often find it difficult to find a style of denim jeans that flatters their body shape. Below is some advice on how to pick out the perfect-fitting pair of jeans.

If you are bottom-heavy, minimize curvy hips with boot cut jeans.

If you are thick-waisted, a wide waistband will contain that muffin top.

If you are petite, choose jeans with a straight cut and a close fit.

If you choose dark-wash jeans, you will look leaner.

If you want to draw attention away from your waist, choose a trouser style, which is fuller at the ankles.

If you wear the trouser style, the widest part of your silhouette will not be at the waist.

If you are petite, do not choose extra-long jeans. They can throw off your proportions.

If you are petite, choose an ankle-length cut.

If a petite woman wears ankle-length jeans, she appears taller.

If you have a pear-shaped torso, choose jeans with large back pockets.

If you have a bottom-heavy shape, do not wear jeans with small back pockets. The small pockets make the lower half of the torso appear larger.
